MARLE-OUVRARD

IMPROVISATION MASTER-CLASS

Practical Information

Baptiste-Florian Marle-Ouvrard

Titular-organist of the great organ from Saint-Eustache church in Paris, he leads an intense activity as concertist. As pedagogue, he regularly teaches repertoire and improvisation during academies and Masterclasses. After receiving the teaching of the greatest Masters from French organ school, he now strives to transmit this artistic heritage to as many people as possible.

The program

The improvisation course is open to all organists wishing to develop their practice of improvisation on the organ. Students, amateur and professional organists come together around this exciting discipline. The program is established in consultation with the expectations of the trainees and their level of practice. Different genres and forms are covered such as, Modal Improvisation, Variations on a Choral, Free Improvisation... Theoretical explanations will be given and then put into practice on keyboard.

Progress

Course will perform on group lessons, on the Cavallé-Coll organs of the Notre-Dame and Saint Pierre-Saint Paul churches in Epernay. Some courses and instrument visits will take place in Vertus, Châlons-en-Champagne and Reims. The trainees will have the opportunity to play pieces from the repertoire during these visits. Outside of lessons, trainees will have the opportunity to access the instruments for their personal work. A concert will be given by Baptiste-Florian MARLE-OUVRARD on July 23 in Vertus and a concert with the participation of the trainees will take place on July 24 in Epernay.
